Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ:

By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God.

And not only so, but we glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation worketh patience;

And patience, experience; and experience, hope:

And hope maketh not ashamed: because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us.

For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly.

For scarcely for a righteous man will one die: yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die.

But God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. —Rom. 5:1-8.

Pendleton, the only son of Mrs. G. R. Whidden and the late Mr. M. W. Pendleton of Irma, Alta. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Robert Agliver.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in St. Luke's United Church at Fort St. John.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a sapphire blue suit with pink and beige accessories. Her only

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Bars on September 25th at the Mannville hospital, a daughter, Kathleen Audrey, wt. 7 lb. 10 oz., a sister for Gloria, Beverly and Patricia.

Mr. John Fleming Jr. is confined to his bed with a very bad chest cold. We do hope "Uncle John" that you will soon be up and out around the farm yard again.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hardy left by train for Winnipeg to attend the funeral of Commandant John Hardy who passed away on Sept. 27. Our sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. George Hardy, who is a patient in the Mannville hospital, and also to his family.

The Albert Bisy Beavers held their social meeting of the month on Sept. 24. Fifteen attended including 2 new members. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, Oct. 31 and as this is Friendship meeting, bring a friend and do not forget your wool and knitting needles.

Mrs. Garfield Coulman held a Hobo Tea on Friday, Sept. 25 and thirty hoboos showed up. It must have been a real party.

The Albert H. and S. held their first meeting of the year on Sept. 28. There were only fifteen present. The next meeting will be on Oct. 26. If there is not a larger attendance, this will be the last meeting.

Recent Mr. and Mrs. Linus Myers of Clover Bar were overnight visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Kellar. The following day Mrs. Erle Prior entertained Mr. and Mrs. Myers and their old friends Mr. and Mrs. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard and Mr. and Mrs. Pierce.

Mr. Jake Myers, who live near Langley, B.C. is visiting with his daughter, Mrs. L. Savage and family.

Messrs H. Bars, A. Scott, E. Jones, A. Larson, J. Allen, R. Johnson, J. Fleming and H. Fleming left on Tuesday for two days goose hunting in the Hanna district. If "Fortune favors the brave" they should come back with a fine lot of geese.

jewellery was a cultured pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Ellaine Buchanan of Edmonton. She chose a beige suit with blue and beige accessories. Her nosegay was of bronze mums.

The groom was attended by Mr. Robert Lilge of Grande Prairie.

The guests were ushered to their seats by Mr. Robert and Mr. James McLaughlin, brothers of the bride.

During the signing of the register the organist played "The Wedding Prayer" and "Because." A reception was held later at the Frontier Inn.

To receive the guests, the bride's mother chose a printed green sheath with duster to match and she wore white accessories. Her corsage was yellow gladioli.

To receive, the groom's mother chose a navy blue sheath complemented with white accessories. Her corsage was white gladioli. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

At the reception Mr. Dick Stuby acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Robert Lilge proposed the "toast to the bride" and the groom responded fittingly.

Telegrams of congratulations were read from California and St. Paul's United Church Young Peoples, Edmonton.

Miss Diane Dressler looked after the guest book.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. G. R. Whidden, Gail and Laura; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knudson; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith; Mr. Bert Smith and Miss Jean Darling, all of Irma, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Merle Knudson of Red Deer; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Whidden of Jarow, Alta.; Miss Ellaine Buchanan of Edmonton; Mr. Robert Lilge of Grande Prairie; Mrs. Ivy Wright and son Trevor; Mrs. Kay Ulrich and Mr. Lorne Watson of Farmington, B.C.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Husband and Father, Colin Emery Desjardins, who passed away September 27, 1958. "Please God forgive a silent tear, A fervent wish our Dad was here. There are others, yes, we know, But he was ours, and we loved him so. So within our hearts, we'll always keep A special place for him, And do our best and live As he would want us to." Ever missed. —Wife and Children.

WITH THE District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

Vegetable Storage:

The most important things to keep in mind when storing vegetables are temperatures and air circulation and humidity. Any one planning to build a vegetable storage room in the basement should, if possible, locate it on a north wall against a window. A storage room should have both bins and shelves. Root vegetables keep best in bins but such things as onions, cabbage, marrows and tomatoes are best stored on shelves. The thermometer is better hung in the centre of the room rather than against the wall. To keep the proper humidity, the use of peat moss or sawdust on the floor is recommended as it can be kept moist.

Check Your Buyers' License:

When selling livestock be sure to sell only to licensed dealers. These licenses are the only protection the seller has against default of payment. All livestock dealers and their agents operating in Alberta are required to be licensed and must carry the license with them at all times. Always ask to see the license and check that it is for the current year and has the name of the person carrying it. Any producer who receives an N.S.F. cheque from a dealer or agent should contact the Livestock Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture at once. Prompt action will get your money, providing you have sold to a licensed dealer.

Implants for Caponizing Poultry:

R. H. McMillan, Poultry Commissioner for Alberta says that use of Stilbestrol implants for caponizing poultry proves satisfactory if good management is practised also. Overcrowding or disease can give poor results. Best results are obtained when the pellets are implanted in the loose skin at the base of the head 6 to 8 weeks before marketing. If treated birds are kept longer than eight weeks after treatment the effect decreases. Implants must be stored as recommended for best results.

MOTHER TRAINING

What is an ideal mother? What specific qualities are needed to attain perfection in the job of motherhood?

A Canadian psychiatrist recently stated that the whole question of motherhood needs investigation, education and training.

"Modern society pays more attention to the training of dogs than it does to training for motherhood," Dr. Nathan Epstein declared.

The doctor did not specify the type of training needed for the job but said that education could provide the answers to many of today's emotional problems.

A number of young mothers of my acquaintance disagreed emphatically. "Motherhood is only one branch of living," was the way one put it. "If you are a well-balanced person you should be able to handle it well."

"A selfish, uncooperative, unreasonable person would botch up motherhood but they would also make a mess of a career, of friendships, marriage and even of training a dog."

Motherhood, they felt, required the same qualities as any other aspect of getting along in the world with other human beings.

Being interested in others came first on their list of needed qualities. Willingness to co-operate came next and then, a reasonable attitude toward all problems.

The better the person, the better mother she will be.

Mechanical voice box for the larynxless

A new artificial voice device has been developed by a British surgeon, according to information from the United Kingdom Information Service released by the Health League of Canada.

The "voice box" brings to all those who have had their larynx removed the hope that they will once again be able to speak fluently and lead a normal life.

Although the speech produced with the aid of this device has a mechanical quality, the surgeon, Mr. R. T. Tait, said that it is readily understood and easily transmitted by telephone.

The device, which is called an oral vibrator, and has two main parts, is described in the British Dental Journal. One of the parts is carried inside the mouth in the centre of an artificial plate. The other is designed to fit into a pocket, and is no larger than the amplifier of a normal hearing aid. This contains minute facilities to supply the necessary power and is connected with the artificial plate by two small wires which have to pass over the corner of the patient's mouth.

The patient starts the device by pressing a small button in the pocket unit. This sets the diaphragm inside his mouth vibrating and it produces a noise. By making normal speech movements, the wearer moulds the vibrations into intelligible words.

When the appliance is first fitted, a speech therapist is helpful to the patient in teaching him how to "speak" most clearly.

A HONEY OF A JOB—The Saskatchewan Bee Farmers honey extracting plant, completed this summer just north of town, is presently operating near capacity with staff working two 10-hour shifts daily. The plant, which has 3,500 hives located in an area ranging from Melville through to Nipawin, and east. The above photo shows three members of the night shift with Derek Stanley, centre foreground, and Pete Hirsch, left, using heated knives to remove the capping from the honeycombs before they are placed in the extractor operated here by Garth McKelvie of Goltburn, in the background. This is the first time the new equipment has been used and it has proven capable of handling up to 1,000 pounds per hour. From the extractor the honey runs into a "baffle" tank where wax particles and foam are removed before it is packed in 70-pound pails for shipment to the local Saskatchewan Honey Producers Co-op for processing, packaging and shipping to foreign and domestic markets.

Ex-Mariner walking Atlantic to Pacific

A 27-year-old Venetian "knight of the road" left MacGregor after spending the night, sheltered in a booth on the local fair grounds and breakfasting at Mr. Collier's Cafe on his 4,900 mile tramp from Atlantic to Pacific.

Guy Macchia, a former apprentice captain in the Italian merchant marine, has covered about 3,250 miles since he left Halifax on May 1st.

The lithe and muscular Macchia refuses lifts as he walks along the highway at a speed of four to five miles an hour. Many hundreds of persons have stopped him along the way and offered encouragement.

Macchia is making the long walk from coast to coast to get away from the "hum-drum" life he led in Toronto as a shipping clerk in a department store.

Tanned and bearded

He is carrying a bottle of Atlantic Ocean water with him. He wants to toss it into the Pacific Ocean as a symbolic gesture of the friendship that exists between east and west," he said in an interview.

Now on his third pair of desert boots, the tanned and bearded Italian immigrant hopes to reach Vancouver by the end of September. He averages 36 to 40 miles a day, but has walked as many as 47.

Macchia travels light, carrying only a sleeping bag, two sweaters, a jacket, a diary and some stationery—as well as the little bottle of water.

Tired of the walk?

Not a bit, he replied. "It is the best way to see the country" which he has lived in since 1955.

Packcase burdensome

With about 1,650 miles to go, Macchia has already spent 74 walking days on the road. He sleeps wherever he can put his packcase down—on the ground, in barns or in Y.M.C.A.'s.

He found the packcase burdensome on the highway and regretted having abandoned a little wagon he pulled from Port Arthur to Winnipeg.

Restaurants and garages were few and far apart during that part of the tramp, and he carried four or five days' food with him. However in Portage la Prairie, he acquired another little rest wagon, which he was pulling behind him, with his belongings in it when he passed through MacGregor.

Sponsored by a shoe company, he left Halifax with $100 in his pockets, but has sold "Atlantic to Pacific" pennants along the way to help pay some of the expenses.

Meals and the odd lodging place cost him about $3 a day.

Will write book

One object of the tramp is to gather material for a book he plans to write on his experiences. It will serve as a guide for new immigrants, as well as for people in Italy wanting to come to Canada.

"I have already had about 3,000 enquiries about the book from people who have met me," Macchia said. He intends to write it shortly.

(The Herald, MacGregor, Man.)

Guy Macchia refuses lift as he tramps from coast to coast.

"FINGERS"

BESSIE M. BARKER

An intriguing word in the English language is "finger." Physiologically, a finger is composed of the same basic materials as the rest of the body, but in its functioning lies fascination.

"Finger" appears in many everyday expressions: "Definitely" and, though not in the same context, "right-fingered." "To have a finger in the pie," while prints of a finger can make housewives groan and policemen grin, and of course we have the story of the little Dutch boy and his finger in 'de dyke.

For a few minutes turn the spotlight on the fingers of a large group of people, many in our own province . . . the blind. Fingers mean something to the blind that they cannot any other people. For those fingers, large or small, soft or work-worn, white, yellow, red, or black, must form the link between the world of sight and non-sight, darkness and daylight.

There lies the work of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, training those fingers and placing in them the tools with which they may forget that link which binds those two worlds together, into one whole of normal living.

Hundreds, thousands of people now buy their candy, smokers' supplies, soft drinks and magazines from C.N.I.B. stands in public buildings. Watch the hands of the person who serves you and think of the sensitivity in those fingers, identifying coins, selecting the goods from the counter . . . there are so many small skills in their performance. Watch and then compare them to those of your own fingers, conditioned to the instructions sent to them by the sight.

The reading of Braille is something which comes quickly to mind in connection with those without sight, and in the great National Library of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind there are more than three thousand titles in embossed type. That makes a total of approximately twenty thousand volumes and an average of a half-ton of these books go out every day to the length and breadth of Canada, free to the blind reader.

Music: piano, accordion, organ, sax, mandolin, and many other instruments are all mastered by the blind, and fingers are used not only for playing but for reading Braille music. Also, in many a friendly game of cards, fingers follow the raised symbols on the "hand" which partners and opponents read by sight.

In handicrafts, taught by Institute Home Teachers who themselves know blindness, can be seen other skills. Knitting . . . in many instances laid down in despair is now picked up in triumph; leather linking and stitching; weaving on table looms; making copper pictures; assembling plastic foam towers; covering garment hangers with bright plastic strands; to place so that the whole sight is well as utility; instruction in Braille and in the use of a typewriter, with the release of bringing conversations with absent dear ones to the tips of re-trained fingers.

Blind carpenters, blind electricians, blind dark-room operators, blind . . . yes, sightless people are winning honor for themselves in many fields. Fingers are indeed wonderful things, and one of the great purposes of the Institute is to train fingers, for blind skills do not, like mushrooms, spring spontaneously in dark corners. Every tactile ability is sought and exploited; from those who learn only some craft for a pastime, to those men and women who earn their living by a daily wage and to those who through higher education fit themselves to move out into the professional and administrative field.

Let no accomplishment or talent be considered lightly. The real richness of life lies in the fulfillment of desire and ambitions, so . . . to each his own. Whether found in some simple craft or in the wide fields of the world, there lies success for each who finds what he desires.

Yes, though nothing can ever take the place of sight, fingers can go far to supplement and substitute. No one knows that better than the workers of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and every success, great or small, chalked up by a blind person, is a spur and a challenge to seek for new worlds to conquer . . . through fingers.

Tranquilized West

The Wild West isn't wild any more. Even its wild horses aren't wild. They are being tamed by tranquilizing drugs.

There was a time when wild horse breaking was a pursuit that separated the cowboys from the boys. But no more. Today—at least on one large ranch in Wyoming, and no doubt the practice will spread—wild horses are being caught and broken with the aid of tranquilizers.

The rancher gets to within 30 or 40 yards of the running horses and uses a gas gun and dart to shoot the wanted animal in the shoulder or rump. After about five minutes the wild horse is as docile as an executive after a dose of Milltown; and capture is a relatively simple matter.

When, after an hour or so, the horse shakes off the effects, it finds itself roped and ready for the first phase of taming.

THE DIM DEPTHS

Stairs are often in the most poorly-lighted part of the house and form dangerous home hazards. The practice of placing articles on the steps can lead to dangerous falls. If there is no handrail, tumblers are almost inevitable. With poor light, there is additional danger. Stairs rate a good clear light, placed so that the whole flight is illuminated.

Scrumptious! Different!

If you bake at home, try these tender, puffy braided rolls—with the sophisticated accent of toasted nuts. Try them soon! And for finest results always use Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

RICH SEED BRAIDS

1. Scald 1/2 c. milk. Cool to lukewarm.

2. Measure, measure into small bowl 1/2 c. lukewarm water. Stir in 1 tsp. granulated sugar. Sprinkle with contents of 1 envelope Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Let stand 10 min. THEN stir well.

3. Cream 1/2 c. butter or Blue Bonnet Margarine. Gradually blend in 1/2 c. granulated sugar. 1 1/2 tsp. salt. Add and beat 1/2, one at a time.

2 eggs. 1 egg white. Stir in dissolved yeast, lukewarm milk and 2 c. once-sifted all-purpose flour.

Beat until smooth and elastic. Work in an additional 2 1/2 c. (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour.

4. Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 1/2 hrs.

5. Punch down dough. Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth. Divide into 2 equal portions. Shape into rolls 9" long; cut into 9 slices. Divide each slice into 3 pieces; roll each piece into a 3" rope. Braid 3 ropes together to make each bun; seal ends.

Arrange, well apart, on greased cookie sheet. Grease tops. Cover with towel. Let rise until doubled—about 40 min.

Brush with a mixture of 1 egg yolk and 1 tbsp. water; sprinkle with caraway, poppy or sesame seeds. Bake in mod. hot oven, 375° F., 12 to 15 min. Yield: 1 1/2 dozen braids.

Let stand 10 min. THEN stir well.

Beat until smooth and elastic. Work in an additional 2 1/2 c. (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour.

Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth and

NORTH EAST CORNER

Mr. Dan Van Hylte is home from Delburne for his holidays. Mr. Archie Cook and Gary were Edmonton visitors last week.

Linda Oldham had a party on Thursday to celebrate another birthday.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith and family of Mannville visited at the Bill Walker home.

Mr. Richard Scheick and Ronnie of Unity visited among relatives in the district on Saturday.

Glen-Coa Cleanings

We are happy to welcome Mr. O. Steffensen home again after a summer spent in visiting the land of his youth, Norway. His sister, Miss Anna Steffensen, accompanied him back on her first trip to Canada. Miss Steffensen is dividing her visits between the home of her niece, Mrs. Ruste of Wainwright and Mrs. Raasak.

Miss Marjorie Larson of Edmonton visited her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. P. Spring last weekend.

The downpour of last Sunday thoroughly dampened our spirits. However, bright days may come yet, we hope so, enabling all to complete harvesting.

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR SUB?

OPTOMETRIST

D. A. Mathieson, R.O., 205 Birks Building, Edmonton, Alberta, will be in Irma at the Hotel, Monday, Oct. 5, 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 6, 9 a.m. - 11 a.m.

For appointment see Mrs. Lang, Drug Store.

A gander that reached age 60 is the oldest member of the Canadian geese species on record.

Local News

Mrs. S. M. New of Vancouver is visiting this week with her old friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Savard.

Mrs. Carl Larson has returned to her home after spending several weeks in the University hospital.

Mr. Bob Harris has gone to Calgary to take a further course in Banking.

Miss Susie McKay, who has been engaged in social work at Halesbury, Que., has now been moved to Winnipeg which brings her much closer home.

Mrs. Sanna Lovig is well enough to leave hospital and return to her home here.

There are quite a number of our local nimrods who have bought shooting licences and are busy hunting ducks and geese these chilly mornings. Art Knudson and the Sonoff brothers have had their annual "safari into Gooseland" and as usual they managed to bring home a hamper full of honkers. Messers C. Smallwood and M. Fahner and others have also stocked the larder while displaying their good marksmanship.

The United Church WA will hold a Bake Sale in the Irma Food Market on Oct. 3rd at 3 p.m. All members please take note.

Congratulations to Jeanette Pond and Lily MacKay who successfully passed their R.N. exams and are now ready to graduate from the Royal Alexandra hospital where they have been in training for the past 3 years.

Mrs. H. W. Inglis is a patient in Wainwright hospital this week.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Black are her sisters, Mrs. Lamont and Mrs. Hatchard of Vancouver and also her brother and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barry, all of Moose Jaw.

Master Brent Hockett has gone on a trip to Quesnel, B.C. with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hockett.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Theroux leave Irma on Friday for a month's holiday visiting at Kamloops and White Rock, B.C. and various points in the U.S. We hope they find a warmer climate than Irma has at time of writing.

Our weather over last weekend was cold and very rainy. We hoped the killing frost which came on Monday night was a sign of clearer skies but the worst was yet to come when a heavy fall of wet snow arrived on Tuesday night. This stuck on to everything and froze. What it has done to the fields of grain still standing we hate to think. It certainly won't help the already sodden stalks either. The farmers of our district will long remember the dry summer and wet harvest weather of 1959. Speaking of "next year" (dare we?), there'll be late moisture in the ground.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hubman and family were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Robertson of Vancouver. They are taking up residence in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Doan and boys of Edmonton spent Sunday with Mrs. K. Desjardine and family.

RECOVERY OF MINERAL TITLES

The Mineral Titles Redemption Act

Any person who lost his title to minerals after December 1, 1945, under The Mineral Taxation Act, 1945, or The Mineral Taxation Act, 1947, either by forfeiture or transfer, or a person on his behalf, may make application for the recovery of the title under the Mineral Titles Redemption Act to:

Superintendent of Mineral Tax.
Department of Mines and Minerals.
Natural Resources Building.
Edmonton, Alberta.

As a title cannot be recovered after March 31, 1960, application should be made immediately in order to conclude all matters required under the Act before that date.

V. L. SCOTT
Superintendent of Mineral Tax
